

NEW SYSTEM OF REGISTRATION.

Will Soon Be In Operation In Massillon.

THE POSTMASTER EXPLAINS

Workings of Uncle Sam's New Arrangement Which Permits Senders of Valuable Letters to Register Them Without Leaving Home.

Special to News-Democrat.

Massillon, April 30.—Saturday afternoon Postmaster Shepley received the necessary instructions for putting into operation the new system by which residents of the city other than those in the business portion of the city, may register, letters at their homes, the registering being done by the carrier. Postmaster Shepley is not overly enthusiastic in his comments on the new system of registration. He stated that in his opinion the government would be wise in raising the salaries of some of the overworked clerks in the office instead of spending money for the increase of service in a direction where it would be little appreciated and only used in comparatively few instances.

The circular from the postoffice department gives information on the subject which is of interest to the public. In the first place only letters can be registered and they must be ready when the carrier calls, for he is forbidden on pain of dismissal, to wait even a fraction of a minute longer than is necessary to write the receipt. The envelope must bear the name and address of the sender and he must have the postage and registry fee postpaid, either with stamps attached or in money, the exact amount to be paid to the carrier. If for any reason these provisions have not been complied with, the carrier is obliged to refuse the letter. He then leaves a card giving the directions in full, but under no circumstances, is he permitted to verbally explain the modus operandi of the system. If it is found at the office that a letter is unmailable the sender is at once notified of the fact. The registry fee for letters, foreign and domestic, is eight cents in addition to full postage.

MANY FUNERALS.

Several funerals occurring at the same hour Sunday caused a taxing of the capacity of the local livery stables to such an extent that extra carriages were secured from Canton.

Mrs. Margaret Albrecht was laid to rest in Massillon cemetery Sunday afternoon. Preceding the services at the grave services of home length were held at St. John's Evangelical church, Rev. J. E. Dignel officiating. Mrs. Albrecht was over 80 years of age and had lived in this city for many years. The cortege which followed the remains to the cemetery was one of the longest ever seen in this city.

Funeral services over the remains of the late William Jackett were held at the Masters residence east of the city, Sunday afternoon. The deceased was also an octogenarian and was well known throughout the county. The remains were interred in Newman cemetery.

While the last sad rites were being observed over the remains of William Jackett, another like scene was being enacted at the home of Frank Nolan, whose wife, Mrs. Mattie Nolan, died at the State hospital Wednesday evening. The Nolans live on the List farm, east of the city. A large concourse of people gathered to participate in the services over the mortal remains of their dear friend which were later held in the Baptist church. Interment was in Massillon cemetery.

The funeral of the late Obadiah Horner, who was found dead in a Canton barn last Thursday morning, was held from the late residence in East Tremont street Sunday afternoon. The funeral was private. The remains were interred in Massillon cemetery.

At 1:30 o'clock this Monday, afternoon funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Amelia B. Lohr, wife of Jacob Lohr, of Green street, were held at St. John's Evangelical church, Rev. Fiegl officiating. Short services were held at the home preceding the church services. Interment was in Massillon cemetery.

CLERKS MEET.

Forty retail grocery clerks and drivers of delivery wagons, met in Schneider's hall, Sunday afternoon, and discussed the advisability of organizing a local branch of the International Retail Clerks' Protective Association.

Mr. Peter Smith, of the Molder's union, and Organizer N. P. Maier, of the American Federation of Labor, were present and explained the good that could be derived through organization and the course they would have to pursue. No definite action was taken although the matter was discussed in all its phases and there was a spirit manifested on the part of the clerks which showed plainly that they were deeply interested in the movement. Another meeting will be held in Schneider's hall next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and all the clerks and drivers engaged by grocers are urged to be present. The grocers' clerks want earlier hours just the same as is enjoyed by clerks in other branches of business. Many of the grocers are in favor of closing their places of business earlier than is now done but there are others who want to keep open. The clerks, by organizing, feel that they may be able to convince these few dealers that it would be to their advantage to close earlier.

Roxell, the Populist state chairman, labor commissioner for two years, but now he is out of office and the pay rolls of the state department reveal no Populist names.

Special to News-Democrat.

Chicago, April 30.—The ball in honor of Admiral Dewey will be given in the auditorium tonight. Five thousand invitations have been issued. The affair will be one of the most unique and elaborate of its kind ever given in the west. The entire auditorium has been decorated with draperies of white, blue and gold, entirely concealing the outlines of the big theater, and these colors will be relieved by the brilliant hues of Turkish rugs swung from the second tier of boxes. The services of the regular naval crews stationed here have been enlisted, to man the ships represented in a series of prows stationed every few feet along the ball-room floor, a man in regulation uniform standing at the point of each. From each prow will rise a Venetian mast, from which festoons of electric lights will swing, and above all will extend the draperies forming the enormous canopy.

THE LOOTERS HAVE IT FIXED.

Commission May Grant Franchises at Pleasure.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR GRABS.

The Poor Porto Ricans Will Have to Suffer As Usual While Others Make a Mint Of Money Of Their Grants.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, April 29.—Everybody who understands the true inwardness of the Puerto Rican situation must sympathize with the trusts who worked so hard to get a chance to loot the island, with the Republican party, which sacrificed so much to grant their desires and with the president, who tried so hard to get permission to complete the deal. At this moment of writing, it cannot be told positively whether the resolution authorizing the continuance of army officers in their posts until next August, together with the amendment limiting the disposal of franchises added by the house, will become a law or not. If it does, it will become so at the eleventh hour, but it seems more probable that it will fail altogether.

The whole scheme was such a beautiful one that it is almost a pity that it failed. The original tariff bill and government bill, it will be remembered, was fixed up by the senate committee on Puerto Rico, of which Senator Foraker is chairman. There was no chance to debate the government features and so the trusts and corporations and looters managed to have inserted a little joker, providing that the executive council of the island should have authority to grant franchises without the least limitation—perpetual, non amendable, irrevocable, exempt from all taxation, franchises without making any compensation to the island government for them. Even the tiny little franchises of the cities of San Juan, for instance, if it is ever constituted, may find the streets of that city given away to street car companies, possibly with provisions that no other companies shall ever be permitted to compete with them.

The bill was rushed through the house under the party lash and became a law with these provisions unchanged. But then the trusts and looters wanted men appointed on the executive council who could be depended upon not to make mistakes in dealing out the pie. They were too well known and it was feared that they would stand a chance of rejection even by the subservient senate. So they got the president to ask time to select the appointees. Instead of May 1, the time prescribed by the bill, he asked that he be allowed till August 1, after the senate had adjourned, so that no confirmation would be possible until it met again next December. Long before the latter date, the council could be called upon to make a clean sweep of the island franchises. The senate passed the resolution as asked, but the house insisted upon amending it so as to limit the franchises and mate them, as they are made in every state of the Union, for a fixed term only, and subject to amendment or repeal.

The senate refused to accept this, and a disagreement was the result of the conference between the two houses, and unless Senator Foraker returns from New York before Monday the Puerto Rican civil government bill will go into effect before the resolutions can be passed. Representatives Cooper and Jones, of Virginia, and Senator Cockrell insisted that the house amendments regarding franchises should remain in the bill, but Senator Foraker and Perkins and Representative Cannon, who voted for the amendments in the house, were not so much impressed with their necessity, so the conference failed. Senator Foraker announced that he was compelled to go to New York, and it is expected the resolutions will fail, as after the civil government bill goes into effect on Tuesday the resolutions will be of no avail.

Now, the situation is just this. By insisting on the right to appoint their men, the looters have drawn the attention of the country to the audacious scheme and have imperiled its success. The Republican party has declared itself opposed even to "reasonable" restriction on the robbers and has in so much imperiled itself. If the resolution falls the civilian appointees must be selected at once and must be confirmed by the senate, instead of being appointed in a hole and corner way, later on. If the resolution passes, the scheme of plunder will be blocked in either event, there will not be such an overwhelming mass of loot to draw on for the campaign funds this fall.

CHRISTIAN SABBATH.

Rev. H. Clay Ferguson Preaches The Second In A Series Of Sermons.

A large audience gathered in Calvary Presbyterian church last evening at time for worship. Christ and the Sabbath was the special theme. This came in the series of sermons being preached by the pastor on "Christ the Cure for the Ills and the Solution of the Problems of our Times." The pastor said that in Christ and his teachings, we found that the Sabbath was made for man. It was not for the Jew alone, but for man universal. Man was created first and then the Sabbath instituted and because man would need it. The whole fulness of the Godhead dwelt in the man Christ Jesus and thus when he spoke it was with the unerring of omniscient God. The preacher showed that God had not as an arbitrary matter, simply because he had the power, demanded that man keep one-seventh of the time for rest and the worship of him. But benignly and in love, as Creator and Father, God had made a day of rest and worship for man. It was the prescription of the unerring physician to make man well

Don't Give up the Ship.

When the demon of disease has pursued you to the very brink of despair, don't give up the ship. When the long, sleepless nights of restless torture and the days of worry and care and pain have shut out the last ray of hope and your tired brain would welcome death as a grateful deliverer, don't give up. Others have suffered as long as you and still have found relief. Mrs. Dora Lesley, South Whitley, Indiana, writes:

"I used to have numb spells that would last for hours; had pains all over my body; had no appetite and my head pained me so that I thought I would lose my mind. After suffering this way for years my health was finally restored with a few bottles of the Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine." Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold at all drug stores on a positive guarantee. and happier, noble and holy and his best possible self. It was then shown that physically, mentally and morally, and spiritually, man needed to keep one-seventh of the time for rest and worship. That man would fail without he observed this rule. France annulled the Sabbath. She was forced to give one day in ten and then come to God's rule to save her physical, mental and national life. It was shown that the Sabbath-keeping nations were in the advance in all the noble departments of life and the Sabbath-keeping nations had come into the possession practically of the earth and its peoples. The non-Sabbath-keeping cannot cope with the Sabbath-keeping peoples. Then it was shown that the Sabbath was an institution sacred and of perpetual obligation. The law as given on Sinai by Jehovah forever settled the day as a holy one and not a holiday. The law there given was satisfied in Christ as a means of salvation, but as a rule of conduct in life it is forever binding upon man till the end of time. A holy day does not mean picnics, excursions, theatricals, races, games, visiting, gossip, Sabbath newspapers or railroad train excursions, and other such amusements. But a day of rest and worship, a day when the wheels of industry will cease and man may hear the still small voice that came to Elijah in the quiet of the night, when he was commissioned for his last great work. As to the day to be kept as Sabbath, the minister said we could not go back and reckon so as to be sure we were keeping the seventh day. The law was one-seventh of the time for rest and worship. There ought to be uniformity of day. Christ rested from the work of redemption on the first day of the week and apostolic example was followed and the needs of man met in the keeping of the first day of the week, and we will not stray while we follow and the men whom he said his Holy Spirit would come and lead into truth and the remembrance of all that he would have them to know. Nothing is gained by cavil about the first day of the week.

But when man who is fallible undertakes to dictate to God who is infallible, and to annul a law which is necessary to the continuance of the physical, mental and moral man, evil must follow. But men say we are still blessed of God and we are desecrating his Sabbath. Well, this may be said. From our beginning as a nation till the war of the rebellion, probably no people ever kept God's Sabbath more perfectly for rest and worship, and only in very recent years have we been openly defying God by a publicly profaned Sabbath. "God is long-suffering and plenteous in mercy." He bore with Israel for centuries sometimes, but defeat in battle, and finally the ruin of the nation came. It is time enough for us to reap the displeasure of God, if we continue and repulse not of our sin in this particular, and what of our ever-increasing nervous prostration and insanity? What of our corruption in public affairs? And when our Sabbath is gone for the masses, if this must come, and the faith of the public in God is shaken, and their moral sensibilities blunted, what will an oath in courts of justice be worth? Are not Rome and France and Spain examples of sufficient plainness so that we may read? But we are not hopeless. The American people make up their minds slowly, but when the public conscience is aroused, and God shall have his Sabbath and we shall enjoy his blessings.

HOUSES SCARCE IN MASSILLON.

New Residents Who Can Find No Place to Live.

ATTENDED CANTON WEDDING

A Number of Massillon People Were Over to the Synagogue—A Moralizing Wedding in the West End City.

Special to News-Democrat.

Massillon, April 30.—Never in the history of this city were houses so scarce. It is almost impossible to obtain residences at medium rentals and every available room in blocks where light housekeeping is permitted is occupied. The local hotels are kept filled with transients and regular roomers cannot be accommodated. This sends many into private families. It also causes many small families who would live at the hotels to seek comfortable homes of small size but containing all conveniences. It is safe to say that there is not a single house of that description for rent in Massillon today. The proprietor of one of the local hotels said today that he received inquiries daily for houses of any kind. The recent additions to the city's manufactories have brought many new families into the city and they must either remain at a hotel or get a house. It's pretty tough luck when they cannot do either, and that is the situation here at the present time. It seems to be all up to the real estate men to provide a few suitable houses and quiet the clamor which is having a deleterious effect on the overworked landlords of the big hotels.

MORNING WEDDING.

Mr. Joseph Schneider and Miss Katherine Franz were united in marriage this morning at 7 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church, Rev. Father Kaempfer officiating. INSTITUTE CLOSED.

Teachers Conclude Their Pleasant Duties and Depart For Home.

The sessions of the Bi-County Teachers' institute closed in this city Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. At the opening of the afternoon meeting there was a kindergarten drill under the direction of the teachers and the kindergarten superintendent of the Canton schools.

Following this, Professor Nordestein, of Wooster, read a paper on "English Literature in the Public Schools." Dr. Burns gave a short talk in his usual interesting manner. Prof. J. C. Hisey, of Chicago, gave an hour's time to explaining the Speed method of teaching by means of blocks of wood.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Superintendent Charles Haupt, of Wooster; first vice-president, Miss Maud Weiner, of Navarre; second vice-president, Superintendent Charles Biddle, of Marshalltown; secretary, W. C. Kryder, of Minerva; executive committee, Superintendent T. W. Kimber, of Dalton, and Charles A. Armstrong, of Canton. Resolutions were adopted thanking everybody for assisting in making the institute a success and calling the attention of teachers to the fact that the Boxwell law had been changed so that township trustees are now compelled to pay the tuition of country pupils who pass the Boxwell examinations and desire to attend some high school.

CANNOT AVOID MAKING SPEECHES.

Will Be Necessary For the President to Do Some Talking.

OPPOSITION WILL DRIVE HIM

To Make Some Utterances Stating the Administration's Position on the Questions That Are at Issue in The Campaign.

Several dispatches have been sent out from Washington since President McKinley returned from his Canton trip, to the effect that he would not conduct a front porch campaign in Canton this summer. One of these specials is from the dictation of Walter Wellman. In the Chicago-Times Herald he says:

"No matter what may be the outcome of the plan to keep Candidate Bryan in the background the coming summer, President McKinley has definitely and positively decided that he will have no porch campaign at his home in Canton. Owing to the fact that the president has recently taken some pains to have his house in Canton repaired and enlarged, it was supposed by a great many persons here that he intended to spend a good part of the summer in that famous cottage and repeat to some extent the porch and front yard tactics which proved such a striking feature of the campaign of '96. Today, however, the president told one of his friends that he would have nothing of the sort. He had been urged by some of his advisers to permit a limited number of delegates to visit him in Canton, and the argument was made that there could be nothing undignified or improper therein. But the president has other ideas, and says with great emphasis that he will not have it. He does not think it would be in accordance with the dignity of the presidential office. He does intend to spend a part of the summer in Canton but he will cause it to be known that he does not wish to receive delegations there or to make speeches. If efforts are made to disregard his wishes he will leave Canton and spend the remainder of his vacation at some quiet resort."

A prominent friend of President McKinley in Canton said Monday that, while he had no direct information on the subject, yet he was of the opinion that if delegations came to Canton to see the president during his stop in Canton next summer, that there would be speech-making done from that famous front porch.

"Of course," said he, "I do not think there will be any such demonstration as there was four years ago, but the president will have to announce the policy of the party and the administration on all the various questions that will be up in the campaign to keep even with the opposition. Mr. Bryan will be traveling around as he did before all over the country making speeches and it will be necessary for McKinley to answer the questions before the people. And he can do it from the porch, and if any delegations come, I rather suspect that he would do it."

And the personal friend of the president said it as though he had a pretty good notion that he knew what he was talking about.
